Academic Support

The Academic Support Center is a University Resource you should get to know! It is easily accessible from your Home Page. Just click on the My Studies tab at the top of your page and choose the Academic Support Center.

The Academic Support Center is your “one-stop-shop” for a host of academic resources on Math, Writing, Science, Technology and Business. This is also where you can access the Disability Services Center as well as Quick Links to the Academic Support Center's Newsletter, tutoring services, upcoming workshops, podcasts and more information on citation guidelines and APA formatting. Take a few moments to browse the Academic Support Center so that you can familiarize yourself with what they have to offer. You can make use of their resources this term and throughout your time as a student.
Welcome to Kaplan University’s Academic Support Center (ASC)! The ASC provides a network of support for students, including those identified as at risk of academic failure or in need of remedial readiness support. The ASC encourages, guides, and supports all students—including those who may be struggling academically. You can explore our offerings by clicking any of the following links. We look forward to working with you.
