CE100 Unit 10

Reviewing the Course Outcomes

Now that you have reached the final unit of CE100 you should feel very proud of your accomplishments this term! You have learned a lot, not only about the early childhood field and academic strategies, but how to successfully navigate the online courses and your next term should be a great deal easier! Now is a good time to congratulate yourself on a job well done!

Now is also a good time to review the course outcomes that you read about when you started the term. Do you feel as if you have a good understanding of these outcomes? Do you feel as if you have mastered these class requirements?

CE100-1: Identify early childhood professional roles, responsibilities, and standards

CE100-2: Use a variety of personal management tools, strategies and university resources to enhance learning

CE100-3: Identify careers within the early childhood development field

CE100-4: Apply basic knowledge of the early childhood professional role to program and professional goals

General Education Literacies:

GEL-1.1: Demonstrate college-level communication through the composition of original materials in Standard American English

GEL-4.1: Describe the historical events that influence contemporary culture

As you finish up this term, think about your plans for your next term. Have you completed registration for these classes? Have you been in touch with your advisor? What preparations can you make now to get off to a smooth start? Which of the learning strategies and university resources that you learned about this term will you use in your next classes?
Good luck to you next term and take some time to enjoy yourself before the start of next term! You deserve a little celebration!
